

Dr. Campbell's Dispensary

DAILY-WEEKLY-SUNDAY.
 Business Office.....11 E. Main Street.
 Washington Bureau.....101 14th St. N. W.
 New York Bureau.....110 10th St. N. W.
 Chicago Bureau.....110 10th St. N. W.
 St. Louis Bureau.....110 10th St. N. W.
 By Mail: One Year $10.00
 Six Months $6.00
 Three Months $3.00
 Daily, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Sunday, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Daily, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Sunday, without Sunday, 10 cents
 By Times-Dispatch Carrier Delivery Service in Richmond (and suburbs), Manchester and Petersburg. One Week, One Year.
 Daily, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Sunday, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Daily, without Sunday, 10 cents
 Sunday, without Sunday, 10 cents
 (Yearly Subscriptions Payable in Advance.)

Entered, January 27, 1903, at Richmond, Va., as second-class matter, under act of Congress of March 2, 1879.

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1906.

How to Call The Times-Dispatch.

Persons wishing to communicate with The Times-Dispatch by telephone will call central for "4041," and on being answered from the office switchboard will indicate the department or person with whom they wish to speak.

When calling between 6 A. M. and 9 A. M. call to central office direct for 4041 composing room, 4042 business office, 4043 for mailing and press rooms.

The "University of Richmond."

Richmond has already become an educational center of importance and reputation, and Richmond College is the nucleus. Its value to the community is incalculable. It is worth much in a material way. It brings hither each year a large number of students who spend here the price of tuition and subsistence. It supports a goodly number of distinguished educators, who purchase supplies for themselves and their families from Richmond merchants. It attracts custom from various sources.

It seems like bringing a college into contempt to mention these material advantages, but the college is entitled to all the credit that belongs to it, and our purpose is to show that it would be worth its keep for its material profit alone.

But the value of the college as an educational institution cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. There are no figures, or words, or terms in which we can express such a value. It is inestimable. Its benefits are both subjective and objective. It helps to refine our atmosphere. The faculty creates a certain mental and moral culture which radiates like the rays of the sun.

The college would be worth while if it did no more than to keep in the community the men and women who live on the campus and educate the youth. It would be well worth while for the blessing of its influence. There is all this, and more, to its credit before we come to speak of its direct work in training and equipping young men for the serious duties of life and citizenship. The value of that part of its work is best attested by its alumni.

The men who have been educated at Richmond College are now prominently connected with all the great interests of the State. They are doing the work which the college fitted them to do, and they are enriching the State in all directions and in the best and fullest significance of the term. All this has been done with stunted means. What limit would there be to its beneficence if it were richly endowed?

We have spoken of the college as the nucleus of Richmond's educational activities. There are other educational institutions here of value and influence, and it has been suggested that their work be co-ordinated and brought more or less under one management. In other words, Richmond should have a university, with instruction in academic branches, law and medicine and the arts and sciences; and its courses should be so arranged as that both sexes might enjoy its instruction. This would not require a revolution. It would not require necessarily that the buildings of the several departments be grouped in one campus. No change whatever would be required necessarily except such change of management as a university system contemplates. The plan seems to be sensible and practicable, and The Times-Dispatch can see no reason why there should not be a university of Richmond as well as a University of Chicago and a University of New York.

Another Cure for Dyspepsia.

"Three years ago," says the Rev. Sam Jones, "I was utterly broken down by my digestion. I could not digest a cracker. My constitution and my by-laws both went down under the condition of things. Medicine made the matter worse. A sensible doctor said to me about that time, 'Brother Jones, you can put anything in your mouth you please. You can chew it as much or as little as you please, and as long as the substance is in your mouth you are in command of the situation, and you continue to be boss of the situation until you swallow what you have in your mouth, and then immediately the conditions change, and you are no longer boss, but the victim of your act.'"

That has the tone of a prelude to a potent medicine advertisement. But it is not. Mr. Jones concludes his narrative by saying that he has broken himself of dyspepsia by cutting out the morning meal. He has eaten no breakfast for three years, having taken nothing at the morning meal, but "grace" and a cup of coffee. He has improved every day. He adds:

"I eat anything I please for dinner and supper, and eat all I please, and the two or three breakfasts that I have eaten in the three years done me up for two weeks to follow, and now there is no table that can tempt me at the early morning meal. I have prescribed this treatment for several of my friends. With one accord, they have said to me later along, 'I am growing better every day of my indigestion." Like Edward Vance Cook, I am not saying these things to injure the medical profession, but to help the poor devil whose digestion has utterly gone back on him. The average fellow thinks he could not do his work without the early morning meal. He thinks he would drop and break down. But any program different from the one we have been running, we think won't suit our individual taste."

The Times-Dispatch does not vouch for the remedy, but it has at least the virtue of harmlessness. If there is virtue in it, Mr. Jones can not be too highly commended for the discovery. The preacher who saves a man from dyspepsia may redeem a soul and cover a multitude of sins.

The Way of the Mob.

It was an audacious thing for a mob of "bloodthirsty" men from Maryland to come into Virginia with the determined and avowed purpose of taking from jail a prisoner who was in the custody of the Virginia authorities, and splitting him away to be lynched. The sheriff and his guards are to be commended for the courageous resistance they offered, for their defence of law and order, and the Governor is to be commended for responding so promptly to the call of the sheriff for troops.

It looked like overdoing the thing to send a battalion of 150 soldiers to discipline a mob of twenty-five invaders, but the sheriff did not know how far the ranks of the mob might be swelled before the night was over, and he did not propose to take chances. The fact is, that wherever troops are called out, it is always best to have enough men to overawe the mob at the start. That is the surest way to prevent bloodshed.

The members of the Maryland mob showed Virginia a great indignity, and they ought to be punished by the Maryland authorities, if there is any law to reach the case. If they had captured from the sheriff the man they were after and lynched him on Virginia soil, it would have made a pretty case for the two States to settle, wouldn't it? It is fair to presume that for once lynchers would have been punished.

But now inconsistent is the mob! One of the arguments employed in favor of lynching for the innumerable crime is, that it saves the victim of the assault from the distress and mortification of testifying in court. Yet, this Maryland mob brought the female victims along to identify the negro, and if there had been a lynching, in all probability, the women would have witnessed it! But there is no logic or reason in mob law.

The Use of Stimulants.

This remark was made recently in our hearing by a man of wide observation: "I do not know of any successful business man who smokes cigarettes." Come to think of it, there are certainly very few such. How many do you know? And, further, how many "successful business" men do you know who indulge in the use of liquor to any extent? To be a "successful business" man these days requires a clear mind, a steady hand and a strong body, neither of which a confirmed cigarette fiend or a topor can have very long. Boys should think of this. Their future success and happiness hinges largely upon vigorous discipline and self-denial, both physical and mental.—Climax Valley News.

A man of maturity may smoke and drink in moderation without injury to his body, his mind, his morals or his business—that is to say, it is quite possible for him to do so. But he must be temperate, and he must always keep his appetites thoroughly under control. Excessive indulgence in either direction will hurt him, and excessive indulgence in drink will destroy him, if continued.

These remarks apply to men of maturity. When a man has established himself in his business or profession, when he has thoroughly disciplined and tested himself, when he has become the master of his body and the "captain of his soul," he may allow himself some indulgences. But that refers to the veteran; the rule will not do for raw recruits, who have not been through the war, for boys and youths who lack maturity and experience. Tobacco in any form must be injurious to growing boys, and alcoholic stimulants are poisonous to body, mind and morals.

Hear the conclusion: It is possible for men to use tobacco and strong drink without serious injury—mind you, we say "possible." Boys cannot use either without injury at best, and without the risk of ruin.

National Editorial Association.

Mr. Alfred B. Williams, editor of the News-Leader, telegraphs his paper from Indianapolis that it is a foregone conclusion that the National EDITORIAL Association will meet next year in Norfolk. The association will come at the guests of the Jamestown Exposition Company.

At the joint meeting of the Virginia and North Carolina Press Associations last summer, it was decided to invite the National Association to meet at Asheville in 1907 and go thence to the Jamestown Exposition. It was afterwards decided, however, to let the invitation come from Virginia, and the Jamestown Exposition Company asked the privilege of entertaining the body. The North Carolina brethren accepted the proposal gracefully, and Delegates Jacobson and Varner, of North Carolina, joined hands with Delegates Denit and Leath, of Virginia, in working up sentiment, and Editor Williams extended the invitation.

This will be the first visit of the National Association to Virginia, and the Old Dominion will give the members a sweet taste of her hospitality. The visit of the editors will be of great value to the Jamestown Exposition.

Wanted—More Policemen.

The burglary committed in the western part of the city early yesterday morning, with its tragic consequences, brings to public attention the urgent need of a larger police force. By a curious coincidence two policemen, a sergeant and a patrolman were within a block and a half of the residence robbed while the burglar was in the house. But this does not alter the fact that the danger of such crimes would be greatly reduced if the city had more policemen. Readers of The Times-Dispatch will probably be startled to know that there is but one police officer to patrol the entire district included between Harrison Street on the east, the boulevard on the west, Broad Street on the north and Main Street on the south. That simple statement is enough to arouse the general public.

In 1887 the police force of Richmond was increased from 84 to 100, and there has been no increase in the number of men since that time.

The city of New York has one policeman for every 500 inhabitants, Baltimore one for every 700, Buffalo one for every 600, Philadelphia one for every 700, Boston one for every 600, Detroit one for every 700, Washington one for every 600, Richmond one for every 1,000.

That is a poor showing for Richmond. There is urgent demand for from 25 to 30 additional police officers, and the Council should not delay to provide them.

It was to be expected, of course, that Chancellor Day of Syracuse University would not think much of the bill to regulate the Packers. The only bill that Chancellor Day has any real regard for is the dollar-bill.

"This is too sudden," observed Mr. Bryan, on being told that he was it for the nomination. Yet, as to lessening the suddenness shock, '90 and '900 ought to have helped some.

Who will be the next congressman from the Tenth District? There are four candidates.—Nashville American. Let us hope he will be the candidate receiving the largest number of votes.

The Times-Dispatch would be glad to open its columns to any little statement that the Hon. Grover Cleveland might care to make at this time.

In about the half of an eye-wink, Richmond is now to be as healthy as she is wealthy; the which is a thoroughly full-sized statement.

Purely and simply, from the grafting point of view, government by inspection figures out as a decently neat little proposition.

Willie Hearst has spoken kind words of Bryan, but in other respects, the Datto's boom is progressing nicely.

The weather man having usurped his job, there's nothing for the sprinkling man but to sit down and rest.

What the Pennsylvania Railroad sorely needs just now is a Judge Humphrey and a Garfield bathing machine.

A Chicago man announces that he is now living on $74 a week. He's read "The Jungle."

Speaking in round numbers only, the Senate has practically made polygamy its smoot point.

The Russian Douma, though, has so far escaped the title of hidebound conservative.

Rhymes for To-Day

Variety is the Vice of Weather.

Of all of life's pleasant spoils,
 Designed to invest it with zest,
 Variety, say our advisers,
 Is best.

By pleasure and pain alternated,
 Life keeps its keen interest stored,
 Not letting us wax either sated
 Or bored.

'Tis thus idle poets go drooling,
 And so have philosophers ruled;
 As for me, I suspect they were fooling,
 Or fooled.

I'd rather be tied with a tether
 To routine, than mist it a mile,
 You'd not? Ah, consider the weather
 Awhile.

The weather! O, me, how it teases
 And glowers and showers and lifts!
 How it alters from wetters to freezes,
 And shifts.

So swift does it change round these Dignities,
 No prophet could possibly wot
 Just whether to doff his balbriggans
 Or not.

He dons 'em—'tis cold, land o' Goshen!
 He doffs 'em—and watch his regret.
 Variety's not to his notion,
 I bet.

Consistency, I deem the jewel
 That life should select for its spice:
 Variety's simply, it's cruel,
 Lost jest.

H. S. H.

Merely Joking.

Sounds Odd—"And does he avoid church?" "Oh, religiously."—Houston Chronicle.

Not Saying Much—"Is Wilkins as good as his word?" "Every bit. But I never heard of his word being good for anything."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Same Everywhere.—Mrs. Given: "Can't a husky man like you find work?" Weary Willie: "Lucky, just look how hard it is for the President to find a suitable job when he gets out."—New York Sun.

Chump.—Pess: "Yes, Mr. Sloman asked me for a kiss. He said I could surely see how much he loved me and that I ought to do it." Jess: "And what did you say?" Pess: "I said I couldn't see it in that light, and the silly fellow didn't have sense enough to turn the light down."—Philadelphia Press.

Pleasant for Jones.—Hostess: "Are you a musician, Mr. Jones?" Jones (who is dying to give an exhibition of his powers): "Well—er—yes, I think I can claim some knowledge of music." Hostess: "I am delighted to know it. My daughter is about to play, and I should be very glad if you would kindly turn over her music for her."—Royal Magazine.

Stirred Up.—"Our neighborhood is considerably stirred up," said the farmer, as he helped himself to a pieful of the village editor's published cabbage. "What's the trouble?" queried the editor, scenting an item of news. "Nothing," answered the stranger. "Everybody's plowin', that's all."—Chicago Daily News.

Stirred Up.—"Our neighborhood is considerably stirred up," said the farmer, as he helped himself to a pieful of the village editor's published cabbage. "What's the trouble?" queried the editor, scenting an item of news. "Nothing," answered the stranger. "Everybody's plowin', that's all."—Chicago Daily News.

LUMBER Largest Stock. Lowest Prices. Quick Deliveries. Woodward & Son, 320 S. 9th St.

WEDDING BELLS IN OLD VIRGINIA

New Monmouth Presbyterian Church the Scene of a Pretty Wedding.

MISS KERR TO MR. M'CORKLE

Ten Bridesmaids Aid in the Tableau Effect at the Altar.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LEXINGTON, VA., June 13.—New Monmouth Presbyterian Church, near Lexington, was the scene of a pretty marriage this morning at 11 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Estelle Willson Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr, and Mr. John Baxter M'Corkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. M'Corkle, all of near Lexington. The church was tastefully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers, the color scheme being green and white. Numerous candles shed a soft glow over the happy scene.

The bride is a pretty and charming young lady. She was gowned in white albatross, with white lace trimmings. Her tulle veil was caught up with lilacs of the valley. She wore pearl ornaments and carried bride roses. Miss Agnes McClung Kerr, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore white silk tulle, and carried pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Eldridge Strain M'Corkle, brother of the groom.

The officiating minister was the bride's pastor, Rev. Dr. D. A. Penick. Miss Addie Dunlap presided at the organ, and played the wedding marches.

The ten bridesmaids were Miss Nan Cochran Hunt of Hampton, Va.; Miss Edie Irwin, Miss Annie Penick, Miss Nettie Dunlap and Miss Susie M'Corkle, of Lexington; Miss Nannie Dunlap, Miss Mary Dunlap and Miss Mary McNeil, of Kerr's Creek; Miss Elizabeth Wright, of Moffat's Creek; and Miss Kate Moore, of Whistle Creek. They were dressed in white organdy and carried carnations.

The groomsmen were Messrs. S. M. Dunlap and William M. Youell, of Lexington; G. P. Dunlap and W. Moore Harper, of Kerr's Creek; J. W. Moore, H. A. Dunlap, S. W. M'Corkle, Jr., James Baird and M. M. M'Corkle, of Whistle Creek; and E. L. Moreland, of McDonough, Md.

As the bridesmaids entered the church the strains of "The Flower Song" filled the building, and as the bride entered with her father, she gave her away, Mendelssohn's wedding march, and, on exit, Lohengrin's.

A reception was given the wedding party last night at the home of the groom's parents, and after the bride entered with her father, the presents were numerous and beautiful.

The bridal couple left Lexington this afternoon for Berkeley, W. Va., where the groom is engaged in business.

Wolfe-Singleton

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 SOUTH BOSTON, Va., June 13.—A beautiful marriage was solemnized at Omega, Va., yesterday at high noon, in the Methodist Church, when Miss Mary Inez Singleton, of that place, became the bride of Mr. Lee S. Wolfe, of Richmond, the Rev. J. T. King officiating.

The church had been tastefully decorated, and a large crowd of friends witnessed the ceremony.

The wedding march was played by Miss S. M. Toran. Miss Ida King was maid of honor, while Mr. R. L. Osborne, of Coeburn, acted as best man.

The attendants were: Pof. W. R. Wolfe, of Coeburn, and Miss Carrie Toran, Miss Susie Paris and Mr. John L. Singleton, Miss Florence Shepherd and Mr. Tom K. Singleton, brother of the bride.

The ushers were Robert E. East, of South Boston, Carroll Singleton, E. M. King and S. M. Toran, of Omega.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. R. L. Singleton, of Omega, and is quite popular in South Boston, having visited here a number of times.

The groom is a special employe of the United States Treasury Department, and has made a large number of friends while in this section.

After a delightful luncheon, the happy couple left to spend their honeymoon at Niagara Falls, and other points of interest.

Easley-Law.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 CHATHAM, VA., June 13.—The Swan-sonville Methodist Church was on Tuesday afternoon the scene of a very pretty marriage, when Miss Carrie Patton Law was led to the altar by Mr. Roy Campbell, of non-Waterford.

The church had been tastefully decorated in evergreens, oxeys, daisies and roses, blending with the soft glow from numerous candles. While the guests were assembling Miss Annie Venable delighted them with a very sweet vocal solo.

At the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Miss Jessie Taylor, entered the ushers Messrs. White Gatewood, William Nichols, Hugh Thomas and Roy Law. Following these came the bride's maids, Miss Lillian Brown and Miss Leona Thomas.

The bride entered with her maid of honor, Miss Estee Law, and was joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Eddie Harvey. Rev. J. K. Holman, of Whitwell, officiated.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Lucy J. Law, of Swan-sonville, and was becomingly attired in a gray traveling suit, and carried a large bouquet of rare flowers.

The groom is a progressive young farmer of Pittsylvania.

Following the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the groom, where an elegant reception was tendered them. They will reside near Weal.

Richards-Fitzhugh.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 FREDERICKSBURG, VA., June 13.—Mr. William H. Richards, of and Mrs. Mary J. Richards, of this city, were married here yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, at the Baptist Church, Rev. R. A. Williams, the pastor, officiating. The wedding was a private one, only members of the families of the bride and groom being present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Richards left for a brief trip to Atlantic City and other Northern points. They will reside in this city.

Francis-Bell.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 PRINCETON, VA., June 13.—The home of Dr. James E. Bell was the scene of a beautiful home wedding today, when his daughter, Miss Rosebell, became the bride of Mr. Mark L. Francis, of Butte, Mont. Rev. R. T. Harrell officiating. The bride was handsomely gowned in a beautiful and exquisite creation of white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of white roses. After the ceremony refreshments were served, and the happy couple left on an extended bridal tour.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of this place, and has resided here for nearly a year, having spent her childhood in Pierce City, Mo. The groom is interested in mining in Butte, Mont., where they will make their home. Among the guests were Mrs. Mary E. Hayes and daughter, of Wilmington, N. C., sister of the bride.

PEOPLE IN ABINGDON.

Colonel J. C. Summers and Wife Are Both Ill.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 ABINGDON, VA., June 13.—Mr. Pelham Blackford and wife, of Richmond, are visiting at "The Meadows," the home of Captain J. C. Robertson.

Colonel J. C. Summers and his wife are very ill at their home on Main Street.

Mrs. S. R. Preston, of Abingdon, is visiting her mother at Worth Postoffice, West Virginia.

Dr. Henry Carson, of Indian Territory, is in Abingdon visiting his father, Colonel R. P. Carson. Dr. Henry Carson left Virginia twenty-two years ago, and has never returned till this summer.

Mr. Edward Boice, who has been attending a medical college in Baltimore, is at home for his vacation.

Robert S. Withers and his sister, Miss Fannie, will leave for Lexington tomorrow to attend the finals of Washington and Lee University. Two brothers, Henry W. and Alfred M. Withers, will receive A. M. degrees from that university.

Miss Jean Trigg, who has been teaching music for the past year at Petersburg, Va., is home for the summer.

Dr. George Grant, proprietor of the Abingdon Pharmacy, is at the Memorial Hospital, in Richmond, for treatment.

Mr. Franklin Boche, of Fort Smith, Ark., is visiting his father-in-law, Mr. Daniel Trigg.

REWARD FOR ASSASSIN.

Committee Appointed to Write Advantages of Mecklenburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 BOYDTON, VA., June 13.—The Board of Supervisors Monday offered a reward of $200 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Fannie Stuart, the young negro girl, who was shot from ambush about one month since, near Jefferson Station. The Governor has written Commonwealth's Attorney Goode that he will supplement the amount. The citizens of Jefferson have written that they will also contribute the amount of $100.

The board, appointed Circuit Clerk H. F. Hutchens, Judge Charles Alexander and Captain T. D. Jeffress a committee to write up an historical and physical description and the general advantages of Mecklenburg, to be edited and published for distribution by the managers of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial.

The Young Men's Christian Association held a convention here Saturday and Sunday. The delegates were twenty in attendance. The services of the association were held in the Methodist Church and were well attended by the citizens of the town. There were four persons appointed from each of the towns and counties, which were to form an Executive committee, and the county is to be thoroughly organized in the work of the association.

Miss Maria Morris, who has been postmaster at Palmer's Springs, and also Nevada's administration, died Saturday night.

MINISTERS' UNION.

Take Supper Together and Adopt Summer Schedule.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 FREDERICKSBURG, VA., June 13.—At a meeting last evening at the residence of Rev. Dr. R. J. McBryde, a strong paper was read by Rev. Dr. J. W. Rosebro on "Doctrinal Preaching." The paper was discussed generally. A sumptuous supper was served. The ministers served upon a summer schedule for union services, beginning the first Sunday night in July, at the Baptist Church.

A public meeting of friends of temperance has been called for Thursday night at the courthouse here, to organize an Anti-Saloon League for Frederick County. Rev. J. W. West and others will speak.

Captain Richard C. Shenton, for a number of years connected with the Weems line of steamers, and later with the Maryland, Virginia and Delaware Railway Company, has been elected a permanent resident of Baltimore.

In consequence of this change in his business, he will move his family from this city to Baltimore to reside.

TERRIFIC STORM.

Cold Enough for Snow in the Mountains.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 TAZEWELL, VA., June 13.—A terrific wind storm swept over this section today, doing much damage to corn and wheat. The telephone telegraphic service has been crippled, but no great damage was done except the blowing down of trees and fences.

The temperature is very low to-night, and a light snow would not be a surprise.

The Supreme Court.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 WYTHEVILLE, VA., June 13.—The proceedings in the Supreme Court of Appeals today were as follows:

Ex parte Henderson. Company vs. Smith. Argued by J. C. Wyser for plaintiff in error and by F. W. Martin for defendant in error, and submitted.

Williams vs. Kendrick. Argued by S. C. Graham for appellant and A. S. Higgenbotham for appellee, and continued until to-morrow morning.

Next cases to be called: Pocahontas Collieries Company vs. Williams; Norfolk and Western Railway Company vs. Birchfield, and the Big Stony Lumber Company vs. McElvaine.

The next circuit to be called will be Judge Skeen's.

Change of Judges.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 LEBESBURG, VA., June 13.—Judge Charles E. Nicol, of Manassas, Va., who has served as Judge of the Circuit Court of Loudoun county for several terms, held court yesterday for the last time, and was succeeded by Judge E. S. Turner, of Warrenton, recently chosen by the Legislature to preside over the Twenty-fifth Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Loudoun, Fauquier and Rappahannock.

The members of the Loudoun bar entertained Judge Nicol and his successor, Judge Turner, at a banquet at the Leeburg Inn last night.

A Woman's Health

can best be aided by an occasional dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is especially compounded for such ailments as the sex is subject to and is backed by a 53 years' record of cures of same. Every woman needs at some time or other. If sickly, to make her well, and if well to keep her so. It cures Female Ills, Cramps, Backache, Dyspepsia, Indigestion or Constipation.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

CASTORIA